Workers employed in the nation's nuclear weapons program or other nuclear programs may have been exposed to radioactive and toxic substances. In 2000, Congress passed the Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program Act (EEOICPA) to provide assistance to those workers who have become ill as a result of employment at atomic weapons facilities or other facilities. Current and former employees, contractors, and sub-contractors at a Department of Energy (DOE) facility are eligible to receive benefits. Come learn more about the program and benefits from Joe Krachenfels, Resource Center Program Manager- Department of Labor, and Scott Yundt, Sick Workers Support Group Facilitator.
